FEDERAL AID SOUGHT FOR STRICKEN AREAS

Growers Hard-hit By Freeze $2 Million Improvement Bond Issue Is Approved

Federal aid may be forthcoming to farmers throughout Palm Beach county whose crops have been damaged by cold weather over the last week.

U.S. Rep. Paul G. Rogers, Ft. Lauderdale, has requested the Department of Agriculture to launch an investigation into the possibility of providing farmers with emergency loan facilities as the result of serious crop losses due to the freeze, he said in Washington.

It was pointed out, however, that crop damage was less severe in the Glades area than along the east coast.

H. L. Speer, assistant county agent, said there was little damage to crops in the area from Pahokee - Canal Point to north of Belle Glade, but that quality might be reduced because of sub-freezing temperatures.

Those growers who escaped loss of their crops may enjoy better profits because of the freeze," Speer said. He pointed out that in the past, beans, for example, bring better prices when the crop is short than when there is an abundance of "fancy stuff."

Estimates of damage in the eastern section of the county were made by M. U. Mounts, chief farm agent, and John H. Causey, assistant. They said the highest losses were to squash and cucumbers, 80 per cent of which will have to be replanted. Sweet corn and peppers were damaged 25 to 30 per cent, while beans and egg plant suffered a 50 to 70 per cent loss, they said.

Potatoes, which mature by Dec. 15, were not harmed by the cold weather, which sent the mercury topping to 27 degrees.

There is a considerable acreage of young sugar cane which was frosted, but which will not have to be replanted. This crop was set back, but will come on again, the county agents said. Meantime, county agents and farmers alike are keeping their fingers crossed and hoping for warmer weather.

"We're still not out of danger," was the consensus.

BANK DEPOSITS TOTAL MORE THAN HALF BILLION

The Florida National Group of Banks had on deposit at the end of 1955 more than half a billion dollars, according to its annual statement of conditions. It was revealed this week.

One of the group's member banks is the Florida National Bank at Belle Glade. Total resources of the group totalled $555,169,963.37.

BELLE GLADE — The City Commission took a step toward obtaining a fiscal agent to handle the sale of $2,000,000 in improvement bonds by passing a motion that bids be requested in that direction at the regular meeting here Wednesday night.

The motion was made by Commissioner J. H. Livingston Jr., and was passed unanimously. The issue, however, will be subject to a referendum vote by the people.

Improvements planned include a waterworks, sewage plant and incinerator. The commission also entered into a contract formally with the firm of Sullivan, Nelson & Goss, West Palm Beach, to serve as fiscal agent for a $200,000 issue for recreation purposes. It was

Pahokee Busy With Rezoning

PAHOKEE — Ordinances providing for the rezoning of portions of the city and means by which the requiring trailer problem may be handled occupied most of the attention of City Council at its first meeting of 1956 here this week.

Three re-zoning ordinances were passed unanimously and a hearing was set for 8 p. m. Jan. 30 on the request for still another zoning change.

Ordinances passed were as follows:
1 — Lots situated north of the colored section were re-zoned from Residential-3 to Commercial-2 on request of A. J. Gamot.

2 — A portion of the zoning ordinance was liberalized in that in the future, property destroyed by act of God, may be rebuilt. Under the previous ordinance, rebuilding was not permitted if more than 50 per cent of the property was damaged.

3 — The request of M. I. Keen that a lot measuring 165 by 230 feet on South Main Street be re-zoned from Residential-2 to Commercial-2 was complied with following a hearing on the request. Mr. Keen has promised PAHOKEE — Ten participating organizations have named 11 members to the building committee interested in construction of a new civic building here. The proposed building will house a recreation center, library and offices of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring organization.

Members of the committee and the organizations they represent were announced by F. S. Parrish, Chamber president, as follows:

Claude Shirley, Elks; Curtis Chase, Lions; Frank Shaughnessy, Rotary; Doris Sasser, BPW; Melvin Spooner, American Legion; Lewis Friend, Chamber of Commerce; Bob Simonson, City of Pahokee; Helen Jean Boynton Beta Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority; and Mrs. D. Cattle Show Planned

QUINCY — The 12th annual West Florida Fat Cattle show and sale will be held here Jan. 17-19, show sponsors announced this week. More than 260 prize beef animals already have been registered for the event.

At Pahokee, Robinson said, the campaign will be directed by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority, with Mrs. Clark Wilkinson as chairman. Belle Glade's Beta Sigma Phi chapter also has volunteered for the March of Dimes campaign and will direct the fund drive in that city under the chairmanship of Mrs. Howard Payne.

Emmett Roberts, Robinson said, will serve as liaison representative between the Belle Glade group and county March of Dimes headquarters.

Robinson also announced that Herb Score, Cleveland baseball star, has accepted the appointment as the campaign athletic benefit chairman and will have a part in planning a March of Dimes benefit set for Southland Raceway Jan. 22 and a polo benefit set for Jan. 29 at the Palm Beach Polo Club.

California Firm Seeks Oil In Lake Okechobee

PAHOKEE — A nine-man crew of the Chevron Oil Co. is engaged in working out a technique at which its client, the California Co., hopes to discover oil in Lake Okechobee.

The experimental work, which is a closely guarded secret, involves the use of seismograph equipment in the lake.

William R. Kerr is here as a representative of the California Co., a Standard Oil subsidiary. Henry Schoellhorn is in charge of the crew of the Chevron company, and John Lindberg is the geophysicist.

The work, it was explained, will take two months, or longer.

Two Sororities Join Polio Fight

Two sorority chapters in the Glades and a Lake Worth women's group have accepted appointments in the current March of Dimes campaign, according to H. Elmo Robinson, county chairman.

At Pahokee, Robinson said, the campaign will be directed by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority, with Mrs. Clark Wilkinson as chairman. Belle Glade's Beta Sigma Phi chapter also has volunteered for the March of Dimes campaign and will direct the fund drive in that city under the chairmanship of Mrs. Howard Payne.

Migrants' Plight Studied

Housing Is No.1 Problem

BELLE GLADE — Lack of proper housing and related sanitation facilities is the greatest need of Florida's growing army of migrant workers, it was agreed at the first public hearing conducted by Gov. LeRoy Collins' citizens committee here this week.

State Rep. Emmett Roberts, Belle Glade, chairman of the committee, called on experts in the fields of education, health and welfare to give their views on the migrants' needs. Their recommendations were as follows:

1. Form an interagency committee to function at the state level to coordinate services of all agencies involved in work which would involve the migratory labor.

2. Set up a housing code to guarantee minimum acceptance standards for migratory workers.

3. Create regulations to control crew leaders as a step toward preventing exploitation of migrants by unscrupulous operators.

4. Encourage establishment of industries in farm areas which would help stabilize the labor market by providing part time employment for periods when farm work was not available.

6. Give consideration to welfare needs of migrants which would provide help on an emergency basis.

7. Establish a code to regulate transportation workers, both inside and outside of Florida.

The city hall auditorium was filled to capacity for the hearing.

South Bay Adopts New Ordinance Code

SOUTH BAY — City Attorney Claude Jones introduced a code of revised city ordinances at the regular meeting of Council Monday night.

"The measures were put in one comprehensive ordinance so they may be found easily by residents and employees," Jones explained.

Council voted to commend the fire department on its fine work in extinguishing a blaze in the colored section. The frame tent house that burned could have caused greater damage if the department had not been so well prepared, it was agreed.

Burke, Tallahassee, and Mrs. C. C. Sanders, owner of the building, also thanked the firemen, along with W. A. Keen, R. O. Crosby and others who offered their assistance to families which lost their possessions in the blaze.

Pahokee — Construction here during 1955 totalled $701,490, an increase of $221,494 over the 1954 figure, it was reported yesterday by the U.S. Department of Commerce, city building inspector.

The breakwater was the largest single item on its cost of $182,483. Thompson said. Additions to two schools and the erection of new homes also helped swell the total.

Construction in 1954 embraced a total of $479,996.50, Thompson's records show.

COMING UP — ONE HOT CAMPAIGN: Hold your hats! Citizens of Florida are about to get in on the most exciting election of the year. The giants have chosen our native state as a testing ground. For unless there is a preliminary skirmish in Oregon, Florida will be the first territory where Stevenson and Kefauver will test their relative strength.

The Florida preferential primaries for the Democratic nomination for president will be held on May 29, just three weeks before the same men will fight a second battle on the fields of California.

Both camps regard the Florida race as the key to the South. And the outcome isn't at all certain. Both sides show confidence. Kefauver's people say he will win easily by 100,000 votes, even though in 1952 he lost by 82,000 to Dwight D. Eisenhower. Their state headquarters is in Miami, where the show will be run by Henry M. Sinclair, former member of the State Legislature.

On the other side of the picture will be Stevenson, who carried three of Florida's districts in 1952 when the rest of Florida went for General Eisenhower. Heading his army will be Congressman Bib Sikes, a state legislator who has the feel of a winner—if there is such a thing. Although he is away out in front now, and many so-called experts consider he will be a shoe-in for the nomination, a serious defeat in both Florida and California might cut Stevenson's lead to the danger point. Might even cost him the nomination.

MAIL GOES THROUGH: When the Eastern Airlines plane crashed and burned at Jacksonville during Christmas week, it carried a load of U.S. mail. Part of the mail was salvaged and sent on its way. Two weeks later, one of the letters received in Senator Holland's office. It was so badly carried that the post office authorities had placed it in a new envelope and readressed it.

About 50 percent ashes, the letter could still be read. After it had been opened and answered, it was carefully returned to the protection of its new envelope and filed for safe keeping. Subject of the letter? A GI's complaint about the cold and rigorous weather of Iceland and Greenland.

MONEY RAISER: On Jan. 21, more than 500 loyal Democrats from Florida's 8th District are expected to gather at a huge money raising dinner at Lake City. Main speaker: Congressman William Jennings Bryan, Dorn, Democrat (of course), who at the age of 24 was the youngest state senator in the history of South Carolina. Now 40 years old, he is recognized as one of the most able speakers in the House. Dinner will be held at the Veterans Building in Lake City.

REPUBLICAN AT WORK: A Republican appointment came to Florida this week. Congressman Bill Cramer announced that William A. Day, of Bradenton, a farmer and citrus grower, had been appointed to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee of the Department of Agriculture. Day's appointment was made to fill the vacancy left by the death of E. B. Sutton, of Lakeland.

WHO'S WHO ON THE HILL: Back at work in the office of Senator Holland after nearly four years is Mrs. Sarah Shiner, formerly of Melbourne. Mrs. Shiner will work in the legislative branch of the Senator's office. And another new face in the office of Congressman Bob Sikes this year will be Roger S. Ball Jr., of Crestview. Ball has been with Radio Station WJBS in Crestview and will handle Sikes' publicity and public relations.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers

"WASHINGTON"—THE GAVEL SOUNDS: In historic ceremonies, the 84th Congress has reconvened for its second session. Pressing issues are at hand, and we all have great hopes for a particularly constructive year. During the first few weeks, most work will be done in committees, studying and reworking legislation for consideration on the floor. As the session gathers momentum, attention will focus increasingly on floor debate and final action in the two chambers.

A great deal has been written and said about the issues hanging fire, and I have discussed them at great length with constituents during my fall tour of Florida. But here is a quick resume of some of the measures and problems confronting the Congress:

PROPOSED REVISION OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY program, including a plan to lower from 65 to 62 the minimum age for paying recipients. PROPOSALS for a TAX CUT benefiting lower and middle income brackets. . . . A bigger ($4.9 billion) FOREIGN AID program sought by the administration. . . . Federal funds to be asked for ROAD CONSTRUCTION and SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION. . . . THE NATURAL GAS bill, to exempt producers from the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission. . . . FARM LEGISLATION, designed to raise the farmer's share in the national income and including a plan for a soil bank to reduce surpluses.

MY TRIP LEASING bill is on the Senate calendar as the session gets under way. It was reported out favorably last year by the committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, and hearings which I conducted as chairman of the subcommittee on surface transportation. The measure would allow agricultural trucks to continue to trip-lease on return trips home after carrying agricultural products to market centers. Trip leasing is of great value to citrus and other agricultural interests in Florida.

The Young Democrats of Dade County are planning a party harmony dinner at Miami on Jan. 19, and advise that they plan to give special recognition to me and my work in Congress. This is indeed a signal honor, from these aggressive young men who carry the Democratic banner, and your Senator is deeply grateful.

POTPOURRI: We are keeping the Jacksonville office open a little longer; Society Post-Juanita Thomas, Helen Gillis and Ruth Garst are hard at work there, but the bulk of the staff is here. Key West has received a shot in the arm from President Eisenhower's visit there, continuing our co-existence. It's another boost for the Florida climate, that economic bonus that puts Florida's growth ahead of all other states except two which have exceptionally small populations.

RESUMING SCHEDULE: After going bi-monthly during the Fall recess, the Newsletter resumes with this issue its regular schedule of weekly publication. Resumption is increasing as requests continue from constituents asking to go on the mailing list.

LIFE OF A PAGE: George Slaton, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George (Prue) Slaton, of Ft. Lauderdale, went to work Jan. 3 as a page in the U.S. Senate and stands to gain an invaluable knowledge of the operation of the government at the same time continuing his high school education.

Young Slaton joined 20 other pages in the Senate who are going to a special school operated by the Library of Congress. Their ages range between 12 and 17, and they are working for a special high school diploma awarded by the library.

BY SCHATZI

EDITOR'S NOTE: Schatzi is taking the wintry air of Ohio. She will resume barking in this space upon her return, unless she finds words to write earlier.

This week she got hold of a typewriter again:

Well, I got a dose of culture again, barely two months after the last one. I was sleeping quietly on the back seat of the car, when Boss No. 2 and friends returned from a session with the Boston Pops Orchestra.

"Pops," I am told, means that in a symphonic music group the fiddles may frolic, the harp gets hoysien, and the cellos are real cool. Or choon.

Well, this "Pops" outfit appeared a couple of evenings ago at the Akron Armory, and the boss positively tottered with enthusiasm as she and a blast of frigid air interrupted my car snooze, after the concert.

According to boss, it the creeping culture in the Glades sponsored this spring by the Everglades Concert Association, takes—then next season's concert must be put in the new Belle Glade Armory, if it's finished.

Sugarland Auditorium, scene of this year's concert, is fine. But, says Boss 2, just look at the performance you can get in an Armory.

In Akron, musical culture has survived since 1887 under the aegis of the Tuesday Musical Club, and the boss says the music has flourished partly because it has been dishied out at the Armory ever since World War I.

Her theory is that any first-class musical outfit having to appear in an Armory naturally puts its best foot, or horn, or lung forward.

You take Akron Armory, said the boss to anyone who was listening, and I do mean take it. There it is, scene of a wrestling match one night, 37th Div. Ohio National Guard drill the next night, square dance on Fridays, a parade show now and then between cooking schools, and every Christmas the Rubber City debutante Colliton.

Into this, every season, you throw a half-dozen shots of culture in the form of music—and it comes out real good anyhow, she sez.

This Boston Pops orchestra is a whole of an outfit, and the Armory stage could hardly hold everybody including the concert grand piano. But hold it did, the white-tied players flanked to left and right of stage by rather unsuitable signs reading "Women." Apparently nobody worries about "Men" in the Akron Armory.

Well, said the boss, Mr. Arthur Fiedler, the conductor, entered the crowded stage with a flourish, ascended the podium, and raised his baton. At this moment, from the opposite end of the tremendous hall, came a burst of recorded organ music.

Mr. Fiedler flipped his baton to rest on his shoulder and addressed his musicians: "Competition," he said. Pretty soon somebody throttled the radio or whatever it was in the deep recesses of the Armory, and the concert began.

For the second part of the orchestra program, a young lady and the concert grand moved to the front, and the ensemble mounted an assault on Rachmaninoff. Well, according to the boss, apparently somebody had complained at the lack of heat in the Armory, for suddenly all of the old-fashioned steam rars in the place started to hiss.

It took only a few shattered cadenzas for several staunch male concertgoers to rise from their seats and step to the sidelines to turn off the hissing heaters. The concert went on pretty smoothly from there, except for the kids at the second intermission running up and down the steps to the stage to watch the harpist tune up, the boss said.

The "pops" part of the concert was gloriously climaxed by a parody on one of last year's chief offenses from Tin Pan Alley. This parody was called "Let 'Er Go, Lover." Boss said gee, given a few more Armories, this outfit could really do a job on a couple songs I have in mind, too.

Well, anyhow, the boss and I are returning with big plans to make the new Armory the seat of culture in the Glades. Anybody gets bored can always turn to rifle practice.

State Checks Accounts Of Real Estate Brokers

Investigators of the Florida Real Estate Commission are making an office-to-office check of all real estate brokers to see that they have established separate trust accounts in which funds belonging to their clients are held apart from the brokers' own personal or business funds. Such separation is required under 1955 amendments to the Florida real estate license law, which provides that all monies entrusted to brokers must be segregated by them in special accounts maintained for this purpose with Florida banking institutions, or in escrow with accredited title companies.

Failure to comply with this section of the law makes a broker liable to suspension or revocation of his license.

'Bagasse' Found Useful By State Poultrymen
GAINESVILLE — A by-product of sugar cane, called bagasse, is being used by poultrymen for litter purposes.

Bagasse is the fibrous portion of sugar cane after sugar processing, and frequently is called "dehydrated sugar cane." When de-pithed, bagasse makes a good poultry litter as well as an excellent corrugating medium and relatively good greaseproof and glassine papers. Poultrymen found bagasse easy to handle and in easily usable bales of 80 to 100 pounds. It is used with shavings by some poultrymen in Florida; is high in cleanliness, absorbency and freedom from dust, though it does have a tendency to mat.

The honey crop ranges between 14,000 and 19,000,000 pounds a year and represents about one-tenth of the total crop of the United States. It is worth more than $3,500,000 annually to producers.

Health TOPICS
Presented by your Doctor of Medicine at a Health Clinic at the Florida Medical Association and your Local Medical Society.

BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS
The safe blood transfusion is one of medicine's most notable advances. Prior to World War II, shock was a leading cause of death among the injured, and in the operating room. Medical research showed that hemorrhage was the main reason for shock and that replacement of the lost blood by transfusion was the necessary treatment.

Methods for the collection, preservation and distribution of blood were developed. Hospitals quickly adopted the new methods and special departments known as blood banks grew up within most of the major hospitals.

Before the formation of blood banks, the usual procedure for a transfusion was a call for blood donors from among the friends or relatives of the patient or from a panel of donors. Often hours would elapse before the blood could be started flowing into the patient's veins. All too often, death resulted from the unavoidable lapse of time during the procuring of a donor of the right blood type, grouping, and cross-matching donor's and patient's blood, obtaining the donor's blood and finally transfusing the patient.

Blood banks have changed this picture. Now it is possible to have ample quantities of every blood group always on hand for any emergency. And blood banks are constantly being expanded and improved.

Blood transfusions, which are used in the treatment of many types of illness, have reduced the incidence and severity of surgical shock, removed one of the major causes of maternal death and saved the lives of thousands injured in accident or wounded in war.

Blood transfusions and blood banks deserve a high place on the honor rolls of medical achievement.

5 LAY LEADERS INDUCTED AT BELLE GLADE CHURCH

BELLE GLADE — E. S. Roberts, G. E. Averill, Donald Parker, G. E. Townsend, and W. D. Matthews were inducted as lay readers for St. John the Apostle Episcopal Church last Sunday. Their licenses from the bishop were presented by Father John Clarence Petrie.

Deborah Jean Williams, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Williams, was baptized at the church on Sunday, by Father Petrie. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hendry, E. Myers, and Mrs. Carl Hayes, Belle Glade.

In his sermon, Father Petrie preached on the Holy Family.

"The boyhood of the Man most important to the human race is usually passed over in sacred history with a few brief sentences," he said. He pointed out that outwardly the household at Nazareth was undistinguished from other homes of people in their humble station.

He said that the Holy Child was raised in a devout atmosphere, and in His human nature grew in knowledge and grace, and yet its constant union with the godhead must have raised many situations like that at 12 when he amazed the learned theologians at the temple.

Father Petrie said there can be no doubt that His spiritual development owed much to those quiet years with Mary and Joseph, just like our own children do in homes where the love of God reigns supreme.

Migrants' Needs Are Studied Here

ment that "too many workers still have to make their journey in the back of a truck, herded together like cattle," and cited the uncertainty of migratory laborers' employment as one of the major contributing factors to their problems.

In many areas of the state, it was pointed out, migratory workers must live in improvised one-room shacks completely devoid of sanitation facilities, and their children attend schools in three or four states during the course of a year, thereby facing a severe education handicap.

The discussions revealed that many farmers who desired to better conditions of migrants were unable to arrange for loans from private sources. Others urged that a special program be adopted by the federal government which would provide long-term, low-rent interest loans for building suitable housing facilities.

The Belle Glade and Pahokee areas are unique in that both have housing authorities which operate facilities built by the federal government, but other sections are not so fortunate, it was pointed out.

Other hearings will be held throughout the state in an effort to solve the problem.
